If love were illegal?

Let's stop for a minute, and think about what if love were illegal. Sounds pretty crazy right? It's weird to think about and most people probably wouldn't agree if the government ever tried to make love illegal.

There is a good side to illegal love and a bad side to illegal love, but if you would really think about it, it could be a story of Harley Quinn and the Joker where she visited him in the cell when she was a doctor and she wasn't supposed to, or she sacrificed everything for him and he didn't.

But that's all for you to think about, this is your story to write.

To Be Continued

I never knew what home was. I never knew what it meant to be home. And I still don't. But to me, home is inside my books.

Home is where my friends are. Home... Home is where I feel most comfortable.

Home is where I am able to do stuff without feeling like something is holding me back, without there being anything to hold me back.

Home is where I can make tea and sleep and make chocolate milk.

Home is where I can listen to music and sing along with the lyrics without feeling uncomfortable.

The same goes with family. I know what family is, but I don't know what it is.

I know that if you are connected by blood, your family... but I feel family is much more. I feel that anyone can be family. Especially friends. Well.. my friends at least. They always feel like family for me. But not those friends that you rarely hang out with, or those friends that you met online. I'm talking about those friends where you know where they live. You know basically everything about them. Those friends where you go through each other's backpacks and steal each other's stuff but give it back in the end. I'm talking about those friends where you can call their mom and dad, mom and dad yourself. Those friends where you can take each other's food without asking and go through each other's phones.

Those are the ones I call family.

The ones you are never uncomfortable with and the ones who care. There is a difference between friends and best friends, and I think that my best friends.. are my family.

Home is where my friends are. And my friends are home too.

Kindness

Kindness is love

Kindness is a feeling of a warm heart

Kindness is the opposite of night

Kindness is light

Kindness is great for those that understand the feeling

Kindness is the feeling of love

Kindness is a feeling to share with someone

Kindness is the best for the people
that share it

Kindness is kind

Kindness is the best form of love

The moment I saw your eyes;
an angel in disguise.
I've never seen anyone more beautiful-
not as beautiful as you.
I felt the rushing in my veins.
a signal sent to my brain.
I felt the love.
something I couldn't explain.

Valentine's week was already here and I was planning to surprise my boyfriend with gifts and a cute teddy bear. I just wanted to tell him how much I love him. Me and him made so much memories together especially at our favorite place... the beach. The day before Valentine's Day, I was just talking on the phone with him and we were talking about how much he loves me and talk about Valentine's Day plan, and how we would spend it together. On the day of Valentine's Day me and my boyfriend are going to the beach, we got some starbucks on the way but he made me pay for my own food, and In my mind I said what! Like he never ever did this to me, and also he has been very odd these days, and me sitting in the car giving my CARD to him so I can pay for both of us. After we got our drinks and food he didn't really have a mood and when I asked him if he is okay and why is he not in the mood but he just smiled and said honey nothing is wrong, but you know I didn't believe a word he said. It was also eight in the morning and I wanted to sleep so I fell asleep in the car. After a two hour drive we arrived. We went to the beach and he told me to close my eyes and then he got on his one knee and he said open your eyes baby and when I opened my eyes, he said "Honey will you marry me?" And In happy tears I said YES! But then I woke up from my dream...

A special item that I love is my teddy bear because my sister gave it to me and it reminds me of my nice sister.
Now she is mean and it makes me think of the old days. It reminds me
of so much like the day
I couldn't fall asleep without it. It is a thing I care about.

Why is the fabled stapler the uttermost greatest, illustrious and preeminent gift for your loved one? Well, possibly, you can illuminate their world with such a gift as the prominent, outstanding, and beautiful rose; or thou shall gift such a presentation as a romantic evening.

But he who stands above all such offerings, is he who indulges in the art of office work. Yes, the stapler can indeed invoke such emotion as an extraordinary gift. But, you must take into account that your ally through love might not accept such a bestowal. Which shant be true since this stapler; of any color, or size, shall be the one gift that makes your beloved relationship become something deeper; on a far more developed emotional level. Whether they act upon the art of schoolwork; or thou indulge upon the work of the office; they shall accept this gift of beloved skill, craft, and artistic creativity.

For all that would like to cherish their loved one in a stranger method, purchase the Swingline 747 Classic Stapler S7074701G, as it only costs $13.99, and it is in stock at many Walmart emporiums. Enjoy your romantic artillery!

Love is love.
Love is kind.
Love is sweet.
Love is caring.
Love is when you get butterflies in your stomach.

Love is scary.
Love can be terrifying.
Love is unpredictable.
Love is a poison.
Love is when you know they love
you back.

Love is a feeling.
Love is trust.
Love is a cure.
Love is heartbreaking.
Love is how the world still stands today.

This is love.

The way I search for you in crowds has no justification to be made, and

I could talk to you for hours,

burying our troubles into the yellow,
yellow sand.

The way you look into my eyes, has got me running out of breath,

and the lovely lovely stars tonight,

could never ever be that grand.

And I also really really love your smile

so pure and oh so full of love

and somehow with your merely presence,

I feel as though an angel had been sent from the above.

Stapler – Best Gift

There are many different gifts you can give for Christmas, birthdays, Easter, and even for no reason but what gift to give on February 14th?

Just sweets with a postcard? But it's boring!

I think a stapler is a great gift for February 14th, you can write something interesting on a postcard, for example:

"I love you the same way this stapler holds paper together." Well, or maybe

"We are like paper and the stapler is love, he will fasten us together."

There are many options that you can come up with with a stapler.

If you pack the stapler in a box and write a postcard so that it would be read first, as well as put sweets and put it all in a bag, then this will be the best gift for Valentine's Day. Give a stapler and you will succeed, because a stapler is the BEST gift for Valentine's Day, this is the most efficient and useful gift, especially if a person does not have a stapler, then give him a stapler because it will be both romantic and useful, a stapler is something that everyone will like, because it is needed, and if a person just needed a stapler, then in a postcard you can also write

"I need you as you needed this stapler not long ago."

And in addition to all of the above, the stapler is an unusual and original gift for February 14th.

Well, I gave you the ideas, and now go and give a stapler to whoever you wanted to give a gift!!

A Good Friend

To me, a good friend is someone who you can trust. It's someone who can bring happiness to you and makes you laugh. It could be someone who makes you feel loved and included because you never felt that before. A good friend is someone who accepts you no matter what.

My mother is the special person that I love.

What makes my mother special you may ask? Well first of all she takes care of me, that's a big key part of why I love my mother. Another reason why I love my mother so much is because she only wants the best for me, she thinks about everything that I ask her before making her final choice. The final reason why I love my mother is she is the kindest and nicest person I have ever met, my mother along with my dad give me almost everything that is good for me that I want. This is why I love my mother and that is why she is special to me.

Ramen. Ramen
is good and it is beautiful. To be honest if anyone got me
something it better be ramen themed.

Love is... but what is love?

What is this feeling and how to understand it?

Is it love that you were given a bear or do you need it to be an iPhone, is love indicated by gifts or something else?

Is it the feeling when we love our parents or love depends on how famous you are?

Maybe from the amount of money, or should it be an ideal beauty? Then who will love me?

No... it's not the amount of money or the level of celebrity that denotes love.

Not the price of a gift will make you fall in love with a person.

Love is like a sprout of a tree, it grows and becomes only bigger and stronger and so on until it becomes too old.

Love is a feeling that you will understand
- this is love.

Well there are several good foods that I would think represent love, but ramen is the superior of them all. First off, ramen is really good, it gives you that feeling, that feeling when you uhh, the uhhh when you uhh get that good feeling when you got something you waited for a long time. Second off, ramen could also be romantic, why? Because ramen is really good and literally everyone loves ramen. So if you aren't convinced ramen is the superior food that represents love, then something is wrong with you, like literally ramen is the best romantic food and normal food.

Well, a stapler, if you've never had or seen a stapler before, it is magnificent, it has everything you can ask for, it's artistry and craft making potential is just beyond the human imagination. I once had a stapler, but it didn't end well. You could illuminate their world in their romantic evening, they might not accept such a great and magnificent gift, but don't worry. Afterwards, they will immediately fall in love to you.

A good friend
will be there
when you are in trouble, or in a bad situation. A good friend
will be grateful for you.

And now the day is over, coming after school, having done all the things that you needed, you look out the window, the stars shine so brightly, but they seem to be gone, coming closer you see the moon and how it illuminates the streets, and the night no longer seems so cold, it seems to you as if the moon will cover you and protect you from terrible dreams. You lie down in bed and wait for sleep to meet again. And already in thought you fall asleep. When you see him, you two are talking a lot. You talk about yours, about how the day went, switching from topic to topic quite unexpectedly, of course, he also talks, this is not a monologue. You again came to your favorite place, this place is also in your city. A hill by the lake on which there is a tree. Falling into a clearing you lie and look at the starry sky, it is not the same as in life, it is even warmer as if the moon says that today it's mission is completed because it protected you from bad dreams. Suddenly you remembered that this was a dream... but he addressed to you by name, as he usually called you, as if he wanted to say something, but ...

It's already time to get up, waking up and looking at the clock you realize that you are late for the lesson. In a hurry, starting to get ready, you run out of the house and go into the classroom asking for forgiveness for being late. After the lesson, leaves the classroom just putting on the headphones, but with his eyes closed, you crash into someone only he raised his head, apologize and see. "It's you!" you say in unison. You agreed to meet after school. The lessons have already ended, you went for a walk, you walked and talked, in a lot of places and a lot of things, but it's already dark, you came to your favorite place and looking at the stars, he finally finished this phrase, and now, addressing to you warmly, he says " I love you"...

The day when spring came, everything was covered with colors, multi-colored flowers.

Somewhere, school students who will soon graduate, declare their love,
someone has a broken heart,
someone has just come to joy in life,
someone has a child right now whom they love as if more than themselves, someone now crying after a movie with a loved one.

From birth, we are given the right to love, from birth we have it, there is more love in the world than it seems, the main thing is not to lose it.

by Aoi

Kindness is when you care for someone. You can love them, or respect them, and you can help them in times of trouble. You can care for someone,
you can make them
gifts. You can also give them more gifts;
and more love.
